A - Information on the DAFI Scholarship

- Since 1992, the German Government has financed the annual Albert Einstein German Academic Refugee Initiative \(DAFI\), which aims to help young refugees around the world starting or continuing their higher education.
- The DAFI scholarship is awarded for a maximum of four years for studying on a bachelor or equivalent degree programme in higher education institutions. The DAFI programme does not support master programmes.
- A DAFI scholarship covers costs for tuition fees, study and learning materials and other study-related costs such as for research or internships as well as allowances including for food, transport and accommodation.
- The students receiving a scholarship will be included in regular social, peer-to-peer and community engagement and skills development activities. UNHCR and the project partner remain in close contact with each student and the higher education institutions to ensure the academic success and well-being of each student.
- The DAFI programme aims to support qualified academically strong young refugee men and women who meet the requirements to access higher education in their country of asylum. The DAFI scholarship aims to empower young men and women equally to contribute knowledge, skills and leadership to the refugee community, and to facilitate peaceful coexistence, social cohesion, and the development of host communities during displacement. To achieve this, each sponsored student is expected to contribute to their community and society not only through their academic and professional careers, but also through their personal engagement, supporting and inspiring other community members, especially refugee children and youth.
